Description

An 18th century welsh hall cupboard constructed from oak. The cupboard come in two sections for easier mobility , the larger top doors open to reveal several hanging pegs and later twin rail, which are perfect for hanging your coats. The bottom section has a smaller pair of doors which open to reveal the floor of the cupboard for storing your shoes. All door come with working locks and keys. The cupboard itself has a superb colour and surface patina, and also retains the original backboards. The cupboard has a couple of later restorations and a few areas with old wood worm holes commensurate with age , but its in excellent condition and ready to use.
