Description

A Vienna cold-painted bronze owl inkstand, by Franz Bergman, c.1900-1920. The finely cast owl stands perched on a detailed feather, serving as the base. Its hinged head reveals an inkwell, cleverly concealed within the sculpture. The bronze features Bergman's hallmark on the underside and displays intricate, hand-painted featherwork. This piece exemplifies the artist's expertise in blending utility with naturalistic design, popular during the early 20th century in Vienna.
