Description

A beautiful mahogany sewing table dating from the mid to late 19th century. It has a single fitted drawer with two brass knobs above a large silk covered sewing compartment. It has a matching dummy drawer on the reverse of the table, complete with matching knobs. The table stands on beautifully shaped supports joined by a turned stretcher and it has bun feet with small castors below. The table is in good condition for its age with a lovely patina. It is generally clean and tidy throughout and the drawer opens well. There are normal signs of wear and age, a few minor marks and knocks and there is an old repaired shrinkage split in the top (see photo) and a small split in one end support but the table is strong and sturdy and still displays beautifully. It has been cleaned and gently polished and is ready for use. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
