Description

Square piano by Wood, Small and Co of Edinburgh and London in mahogany with ebony stringing - in playing condition (would need tuning). Six turned legs with brass collars at the top which unscrew for moving the piano. Original folding music holder and removable foot pedal. Five octaves of ebony and ivory keys; above the keys the maker's name is drawn onto a satinwood panel and there are two squares of brass stringing; also two panels of fretwork to let the sound out if the lid is closed. There are two drawers for music. Square pianos have a softer, quieter tone than modern pianos so are ideal for not annoying the neighbours. Circa 1820
