Description

Antique oak double gate leg table This Antique oak double gate leg table was made in the 19th century. As this wonderful dining table has the double gate, it allows for the legs to be moved into various places to allow for easier access to sit chairs. This is a comfortable 8 seat dining table. The base has the wonderful barley twist legs and stretchers. To be able to turn a barley sugar takes tremendous skill, the woodturner must have loved his art as there are multiple examples of the skill around the table base. The top with the multiple boards and the rounded drop flaps. The top is full of character, is of a lovely colour and a good patina. Imagine dining at this with your family and friends, the pleasure this table will give you even when it is not in use. The Antique oak double gate leg table is versatile as you can use it with both flaps in use or just the one up. 145cms deep 57ins 173cms wide with both flaps in use 67 1/2ins 65cms across with leaves down 251/2ins 76cms high 30ins All Measurements are as accurate as possible Delivery UK mainland FREE Other destinations please contact us, and we will get a quote.
