Description

A very decorative 19th century British school oil painting on canvas of a young lady, with dark curly hair, holding a book. She is dressed in a muslin gown with pink ribbons. In some respects it is a naive painting which enhances its charm. It is framed in a gilt frame and measures 40cm high x 35cm width (inc frame) and the actual painting is 30cm high x 25cm width. The condition is generally good, but there is some age related wear.
