Description

A pair of Barr, Flight & Barr Worcester Shell Shaped Dessert Dishes c.1810. Each dish very finely decorated with a views titled in red to to the reverse, including "Berry Pomery Castle, Devon" & "View Near Limerick, Ireland." The border of each dish decorated with a salmon ground, enriched with an anthemion and dart gilded pattern. The landscapes pictured here are after the landscape painter, Thomas Walmsley, who was born in Ireland, settled in London in 1790, and died in Bath in 1806, where he had retired due to ill health. At first he exhibited mainly scenes from Wales and the Lakes, but in 1796 he showed Irish views, some of which were engraved as aquatints. Condition: Excellent with just some very slight surface wear For more images, please visit: www.fineantiqueenglishporcelain.co.uk
