Description

A substantial medium sized Georgian picture frame, suitable for displaying a small period oil painting. The detailed acanthus leaf carving suggests a design influenced by the Georgian or early Victorian period (18th to early 19th century). The thickness and depth of the frame, along with the stepped profile, are characteristics often seen in 18th-century British or French frames. The gilding (gold leaf or paint) and age cracks suggest it could be authentic or at least an antique reproduction. The cracking and separation at the corners indicate age-related wear, which is expected in antique frames. The gesso layer (the white base under the gilding) appears to be cracking, which is common in older, hand-carved frames. Condition report: The frame is considered to be in fair to good condition in line with age ~ approx 200 years old. Cracks and wear are visible on this stunning antique piece. Please see our large selection of photographs to inspect the condition and quality of this item, and please don't hesitate to make contact, we are more than happy to answer any questions which you may have. Size of frame is 35 x 32 x 11 cm (size of inner rebate approx. 22 x 19 cm) we...
