Description

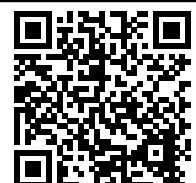

A superb pair of Edwardian Arts and crafts Bon Bon dishes of a nice little size. They are the perfect size for sweets, nuts or such like. They have been wonderfully hand made and the makers hammer marks give them a beautiful planished finish that catches the light and the eye. Both are fully hallmarked sterling silver, Edinburgh 1906. The makers mark of Hamilton & Inches to both. They are both in an excellent condition with no damage or repairs. Some light surface wear as expected for their age and use. They both sit straight and true. 7cm height. 8.6cm diameter top. 5.5cm diameter base. 182 grams combined weight. Please feel free to ask any questions about this item or any of my other items for sale. I offer a full money back guarantee if you are unhappy with your item, if returned within 14 days of receipt.
