Description

Victorian inlaid rosewood envelope card table This Victorian inlaid rosewood envelope card table was made circa 1885. These envelope card tables are always an attractive item in the home and particularly good for playing bridge. The top that is profusely inlaid with panels of urns and foliage to each envelope, swivels to allow a button to pop up that pushes one of the flaps up so that you can fold out each piece. Once opened the button goes down to leave the surface flat, and you can then use the playing and the counter scoops. Under the top there is a full width drawer with brass knob handles. The Victorian inlaid rosewood envelope card table stands on tapering legs that have fine box stringing, and end on the original porcelain castors. 51cms wide 20ins 51cms deep 20ins 71cms high 28ins When open 71cms 20ins All Measurements are as accurate as possible Delivery UK mainland FREE Other destinations please contact us, and we will get a quote.
