Description

Antique Royal Dux Porcelain Figurine, Wool Spinner Girl, 19th Century, No. 466 A rare and antique porcelain figurine of a wool spinner girl, created by the Royal Dux company in the 19th century. This exquisite piece depicts a young girl spinning wool, holding a bundle in her hands. The figurine belongs to the early series of Royal Dux, as indicated by the engraved number 466, a hallmark of exceptional craftsmanship and attention to detail. Unlike later mass-produced works, these early Royal Dux figurines were meticulously sculpted, with remarkable precision in the face, clothing, and even the fingernails. The figurine is beautifully crafted, with an exquisitely detailed face and jewellery, representing the outstanding artistry of Royal Dux sculptors from the 19th century. The figurine bears the distinctive pink triangular Royal Dux mark, used during this period to signify authenticity. Historical Background Royal Dux, founded in 1860 in Duchcov, Bohemia (now the Czech Republic), is renowned for its delicate craftsmanship in porcelain figurines, particularly during the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Early Royal Dux pieces are highly valued by collectors due to their...
