Description

A superb rosewood Canterbury dating from the early 19th century. It has three sections separated by X-Frame divisions with beautiful laurel wreath carvings. Each corner has a turned acorn shaped finial and it has a single drawer with turned handle. It stands on turned legs with the original brass castors below. It is a good quality piece and the wood has a beautiful colour and grain. It is in good condition for its age and it strong and sturdy. There are some signs of age and use, some small knocks and minor marks and the top of one finial has a small chip but nothing detrimental or untoward. There have been a few old repairs to the delicate laurel wreaths but the whole piece is strong and sturdy and displays beautifully. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask. Nationwide delivery available through our network of reliable couriers.
