Description

A Georgian Single Plank Circular Mahogany Tilt Top Table, C1780, 85cm diameter. A fine quality English Georgian tilt top table of excellent colour and proportions with a 85cm diameter, single plank top with an elegant timeworn patination. In its original and untouched condition, it shows very well. A well constructed late 18th century, circa 1780-1790, round tilt top wine, candle, perhaps breakfast table in original condition, without loss or significant repair that sits and locks well into position and upright when not locked down, a very charming example. The original single plank top shows an established timeworn patina without any warps, there is a small grain split which is surface only and extends from a root knot on the outer edge but otherwise perfect. The tilt and locking mechanism works perfectly and stands upon a turned pedestal column, terminating at a tripod base arrangement on pad feet, please note that 1 foot has had a minimal and professional repair to the underside pad section and only visibly from beneath. A very elegant and useable antique, both function and form that can compliment a classic or contemporary space, super colour that only time can p...
