Description

Victorian Angling Fishing Oil Painting Northern Pike Fish Surfacing Caught By Gaff Pole By Arthur Roland Knight C1890. Medium oil on canvas. Title "Angling Landing A Northern Pike Fish Caught At River With Gaff Pole" By Arthur Roland Knight 1845-1914. Set in the original gilt stepped frame. The various different colours, green, blue, greys, browns, black hues are so vibrant which you will love. A nice small size with the frame being 34 cm wide and 29 cm high. Subject hunting fascinating study of a Northern Pike fish just caught by a gaff pole and being brought in, with reeds seen below & above the river water surface, with beautiful views of landscape in the distance above cloud overcats sky with some lighter blue shining through. Signed in the bottom corner by the known listed British angling artist Arthur Roland Knight. In our opinion this is a fine example of his work. Artist biography Arthur Roland Knight was a British painter who was born in 1845 in Aston, Birmingham to Edward, a chemist and Ann Knight. By 1871, he had become a professional artist and then moved to Tottenham, London. He specialised in mainly angling paintings and is renowned for his paintings of Trout...
