Description

An antique Welsh hand-stitched reversible broadcloth quilt, early 20th century, one side in a deep gold cotton sateen, the reverse in a slate grey/blue, the central medallion and quartered fan borders within double line borders and further wide borders of fans and overlapping concentric quartered circles. Completely hand stitched other the machine sewn edge and where the fabric widths are joined. The quilt is quite heavyweight and I believe has wool battoning. In very good condition with no fading or staining. There are two very small areas of wear to the gold side and a larger area of wear to the sateen on the blue side (see photographs). 184cm wide, 235cm long.
