Description

This pretty Victorian pendant is an unusual little piece. One side shows a typically Victorian scrolling foliate design with hand-chased ivy leaves (ivy being a Victorian symbol of enduring love) and the other has a tiny real dried flower sprig sealed inside a glass, or possibly crystal, fronted compartment. SIZE: 2 x 1.6cm; 2.8cm including the bail. WEIGHT: 3.2g. MATERIALS: Gold coloured metal (not solid gold, possibly pinchbeck).

HALLMARKS/STAMPS: None. CONDITION: Very good antique condition, with normal surface wear for a piece of this age and minor abrasions to the glass. ERA: Victorian (c.1837-1901).
