Description

This chandelier would have originally been candle powered. It's been sympathetically converted to electric, with cardboard candle tubes. The main body of the chandelier is in brass. The top section features open fretwork and the lower section has a spun funnel. Note that this does have the odd dent here and there. The lower section is decorated with c-scrolls and is finished with a brass hoop. This piece has six small bayonet bulb holders. The height without the chain to the top is 59cm. st 3686
