Description

A lovely antique perpetual desk calendar in an oak frame with a beaded border. It has a full set of date and week cards. There are two knobs on the top of the calendar that would have originally turned a line marker but this is no longer present. The top of the frame is stamped "PAT No 9964". The calendar is in very good condition for its age. There are a few minor marks here and there and a small crease on the corner of one date card but nothing detrimental. It has been lightly cleaned and polished and displays well. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
