Description

A brass barley twist candlestick which has been converted to a table lamp. The candlestick is good quality and originally dates from the mid to late 19th century. It has been nicely converted with a faux candle below the bulb holder. It has been PAT tested and wired to modern standards to take a standard bayonet bulb (bulb not included). The lamp is in excellent condition and has been beautifully polished. There are some minor signs of age and use but nothing detrimental and it displays well. Approximate Measurements: Height : 18" / 46cm Base Diameter : 5" / 13cm The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
