Description

An antique Ersari Turkmen, very large main carpet from Southern Turkmenistan or Northern Afghanistan, approximately 15'6" x 9'7", dating from the 2nd half 19th century. This attractive old carpet has a claret red coloured field with three columns of elephant foot guls enclosed by multiple borders. A hand woven carpet finished with kilim and fringed ends, and overbound sides. Wool pile and foundations. The reverse has the original tag, with lead seal attached. This high quality antique carpet, with 140 plus years of use, giving it a lovely aged /distressed charm and character, which cannot be reproduced. Ready to use. Dimensions: This carpet measures approximately 479 cm long including fringes, and 291 cm wide. Condition: Please see the pictures for details of the items condition. - This carpet is in a fair / distressed condition overall, commensurate with its age. Marks and blemishes. Wear to the pile, low in places, with one hole approximately 4.5" by 1.5", see pictures. A small square repair, see pictures. Both ends kilim and fringes have some wear and losses. Colour is faded. A good regular shape. Vacuumed, deodorised, and treated for moth prevention. Ready to use....
