Description

An Edwardian tavern candlestick made from bronze and engraved with H.M.S Britannia Dartmouth 1869 - 1905. This candlestick was probably once housed in a local tavern in Dartmouth, Devon, where H.M.S Britannia - a 120 gun training ship was used by the Royal Navy. The candlestick has a small bell that would be rung when staff service was required for a top up! The surface of the candlestick has a lovely patina and is in excellent condition.
