Ready to hang. Oil on canvas, signed and dated 1878 framed image size 24cm x 34cm, overall size 29cm x 39cm Comment: 1878 was a significant year for Gemmell Hutchinson as the Royal Scottish Academy accepted the first three examples of his work and they continued to accept many submissions from him right up until the year of his death. Note: Robert Gemmell Hutchinson was born at 35, North Richmond Street, Edinburgh on 1st July 1855. He was the first child of George Hutchinson, a brass founder, and his wife Margaret Forman. Soon after his birth, the family moved to 37, Carrubbers Close, Canongate. It is not recorded which school Robert attended but he did not enjoy the experience! He was described as "scraping from class to class with as little work as possible, and, as soon as he could, leaving it gladly". From the census of 1871, the family was still at 37, Carrubbers Close and had increased to seven; three sons and four daughters. With encouragement from his mother of whom he "alwa...
