Description

This is a particularly nice set of 19th century Anglo-Indian campaign drawers. This set is made from solid teak which has taken on a beautiful patina over the years and has the nicest handle design I have seen on this style of drawers. The handles also sit flush in the body of the drawers making for a very tidy design. The chest as per its nature splits in two as originally this would have been moved from location to location on the back of a mule or other animal. This set is made up of entirely drawers making it very practical and offering plenty of storage. Height 103cm Width 105cm Depth 55cm Price includes UK mainland delivery
