Description

A Pair of 18th Century Dutch Delft Polychrome Vases 16cm. A stylish pair of late 18th century, circa 1780-1800, polychrome hand painted Dutch Delft baluster shape vases with a matching floral decorative theme. The 16cm tall vases have an attractive decoration that is evidently hand painted, a rare polychrome or multi coloured theme, often the traditional blue and white, making these decorative pair of antique vases in mostly very good condition. It's quite typical for antique Delft porcelain of this period to show several chips and nibbles to the edges whilst these are in very good condition, with no cracks or significant chips, revealing evidence of kiln dust and no lids. Dimensions Height 16cm Diameter 12cm A charming and original pair of 18th century Delft vases of considerable decorative appeal for a classic or contemporary space, interior design pieces of function and form.
