Description

A nice example of a manual winding, Longines watch in stainless steel, measuring 34.5mm across, not including the winding crown. The silvered dial is original and has not been restored, showing great patina, tastefully plain with silver baton indices, engine turned sub seconds dial, and classic Longines symbol. The original owner spent years living in Africa, and regularly shipped the watch to Longines for servicing throughout its lifetime, and as such the movement works very well. Supplied on a new brown leather strap.
