Description

This superb Indian hand carved hardwood very realistic study of an iguana is remarkably well carved with great detail. It is produced from a single piece of dense hardwood. It has brilliant natural movement to the body showing every muscular ripple which is then finely detailed with the scaled skin texture which runs throughout the entire body. The artist has cleverly captured the head and facial expression of this powerful reptile. Circa 1920, in very good condition. Height 16.5cm x width 34cm x depth 20cm
