Description

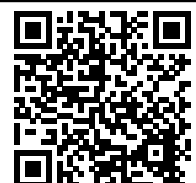

Early 20th century terracotta Paris shop display mannequin A rare survivor, in the form of a life size terracotta Paris display boy mannequin. With inserted glass eyes and central metal support bracket. Old leather shoes and fabric sock, the head is detachable. This example would have originally had a support stand in place to make him stand alone. All hand painted and in overall good condition its age and fragile material. Size in inches: H 50" x W 13" x D 7" Origin: Paris (France) Date: Early 20th Century Condition: Good Considering this item age and fragile material, it's in overall very good condition and rare to find in this state. One of the hands looks remoulded and the back has a painted patch on the left bum cheek. No other breaks or loss. This item has other forms of wear, like scratches and scuffs across its surface with loss of detail. Please review all the photos provided as part of this advert, close-up photos have been provided to show its condition of loss of surface detail and paper in more detail. We strongly suggest reviewing all the photos provided as part of this advert and propose questions where sections are unclear to avoid disappointment...
