Description

A charming set of four original William IV period dining chairs, crafted from rich, solid mahogany. These elegant chairs embody the restrained grandeur of the early 19th century, showcasing the timeless appeal of fine English craftsmanship. Each chair features beautifully decorative turned and reeded front legs, with the back legs gently swept in classic William IV style. The back supports are finely carved with intricate detailing, offering both comfort and visual interest. The rich mahogany has aged gracefully, displaying a warm patina that enhances their historic charm. Sturdy and ready for use, these chairs are ideal for a formal dining setting or as standalone accent pieces in a refined interior. Materials: Mahogany Age: c.1830 Dimensions: H: 87cm W: 48cm D: 43cm
