Description

Fantastic solid silver pierced bowl made by the prestigious silversmith firm of William Neale & Sons Ltd. assayed in Chester in 1913. This dish would have been most likely used for bon bons or small cakes but would make a very stylish Pot Pourri holder today. It is in superb condition, looks absolutely fabulous on display and is a very nice collectable piece that should prove a sound investment for the future. The Chester Assay Office closed down in August 1962 and, as a result, items bearing the Chester Hallmark have become increasingly collectable. The main body of the dish is decorated with an elaborate pierced organic pattern, has a plain base and stands atop 3 paw shaped feet. The hallmarks are very clear and crisp and although the maker's mark was lightly stamped at the time of assay I am confident of the maker given the very distinctive shape of the cartouche.
