Description

This vintage 925 sterling silver Havdalah spice tower is a rare and exquisite piece of Judaica, reflecting the artistry and cultural significance of Jewish ceremonial objects. Dating from the mid-20th century, this spice tower is designed in a three-tiered filigree style, showcasing intricate and delicate craftsmanship. The tower is hexagonal in shape and features a beautifully ornate design, enhancing its visual appeal. It includes a hinged door, which adds both functionality and charm. The door is adorned with a scene, adding an artistic touch that makes this piece unique and interesting. Measuring 22 cm in height and 4.7 cm in width at the center, the tower is a substantial piece, yet lightweight at 71 grams, making it easy to handle and display. The use of 925 sterling silver ensures its quality and durability, while the filigree work highlights the skill and attention to detail that went into its creation. This spice tower is perfect for Judaica collectors or anyone interested in unique vintage silver pieces. Its combination of cultural significance, intricate design, and historical value makes it a valuable and cherished addition to any collection or religious se...
