Description

This antique double perfume bottle is a beautifully crafted piece that combines the elegance of cut and engraved crystal glass with the finesse of silver detailing. The crystal glass is intricately engraved to depict two female figures surrounded by floral motifs, showcasing the fine craftsmanship and attention to detail that characterize antique glass. Measuring 14 x 3 cm, this bottle is compact and designed for practical use while also being an exquisite decorative object. The double-ended design is both functional and elegant, allowing two different perfumes to be stored simultaneously, a common practice in the 19th and early 20th centuries. The engraved silver detail adds a touch of luxury and complements the clarity and brilliance of the crystal. The silver stoppers or mounts are likely adorned with intricate engravings, enhancing the decorative appeal of the piece and ensuring a secure closure of the contents. This perfume bottle would be a valuable addition to any collection of antique glass or perfume bottles, offering a glimpse into a time when personal toiletries were both functional and true works of art. Its intricate design and historical significance make...
