Description

December. A superb Georgian reverse glass print depicting a Georgian lady sitting at a Georgian tripod table which is covered with a cloth and playing cards and pair of candles sit on top. The lady is pulling a bell to summon a maid and a cat sits her feet. Circa: 1770. Published by Carrington Bowles, at No. 60 St. Paul's Church Yard. This reverse glass print is a charming glimpse of Georgian life and has survived in almost perfect condition.
