Description

Antique Georgian Copper Wine Cooler English, early 19th century. A fine early 19th century English copper wine cooler, of attractive neoclassical form, raised on animal paw feet. The piece was originally silver-plated, with much of the plating now rubbed and polished away to reveal the warm copper beneath, lending it a particularly handsome patina. Good quality and of good weight, with sound structure and standing firmly. Measurements: 19 cm wide x 19 cm deep x 20 cm high. Condition: Good overall. Surface wear and rubbing to the plate as expected, but no structural issues.
