Description

Late Victorian 1.50ct Diamond Trilogy Ring in 18ct Gold A Fine Antique Ring of Distinction A truly magnificent late Victorian diamond trilogy ring, exquisitely crafted in rich 18 carat gold. This remarkable piece showcases three stunning old European cut diamonds, celebrated for their unique charm and romantic brilliance – a character only found in hand-cut stones of the period. The diamonds are securely claw-set above an intricately detailed scrollwork gallery, beautifully ornate and finely executed. Together, the three principal stones have an approximate total weight of 1.50 carats. They are bright, lively and full of fire, offering an exceptional sparkle that catches the light beautifully. Enhancing the central trilogy are six delicate rose-cut diamonds, each adding a subtle glimmer and further elegance to the composition. Centre diamond approx. 5.5mm x 3.8mm Outer diamonds approx. 4.4mm x 2.9mm Estimated total diamond weight: 1.50ct Colour: H | Clarity: SI1-SI2 Substantial weight: 4.5 grams Fully crafted in 18ct gold; partial hallmarks visible (crown & anchor), obscured slightly by a later sizing band
