Description

A characterful Arts and Crafts side chair with a traditional country aesthetic, the ladderback sits above a tightly woven rush seat raised on tapered front legs terminating in ball feet. Crafted in solid oak with a warm, gently aged surface, it is compact and full of rural charm — a versatile piece suited to a range of settings, from a farmhouse kitchen to a bedroom corner, hallway perch or occasional chair. Presented in very good antique condition with some attractive aged wear and a rich colour. Structurally all sound with a firm, well-preserved rush seat. Beautifully clean and ready to place in the home. English, circa 1890. H: 83 W: 48 D: 50 cm Seat height: 38 cm
