Description

Fine Pair Japanese Meiji Cloisonne Plates / Chargers. Meiji Period. Circa 1900. Superbly rendered matching pair of cloisonne enamel plates with beautifully rendered foliage, flowers and bird. Lotus leaves and flower pod (Katydid) and bird speak aloud of symbiosis at the end of the summer, with insect nibbled leaves. In mirror finish. Beautiful colours and artwork*. Condition: Excellent condition with minor surface marks. No enamel losses. Dimensions: Diameter = 30.5cm. Depth = 3.5cm *Similar in design and style to Front Cover and Plate 72 of Japanese Cloisonne Enamel by A Coben and Dorothy C Ferster. Here in the natural world, unfettered by man made reminders, we are free to experience the world through the penetrative eye of the artist. Medium and message are one organic whole.
