Description

A beautiful antique brooch-pendant from the Edwardian era. An exquisite piece – crafted in lovely rich and buttery 15ct yellow gold throughout, which beautifully highlights the delicate seed pearls. Edwardian era jewellery is unparalleled and exquisite. According to experts, the first third of the 20th century brought an incredible number of masterpieces to the world of jewellery art. Therefore, it's no surprise that so many people wish to own at least a small piece of this magnificent era. This brooch is a fine example. Elegant, intricate, and voluminous in design, with a clear nod to the Art Nouveau style, it features a flawless combination of colours and materials and is in excellent condition. The piece can be worn as a brooch or as a pendant; you only need to secure the top clasp for added reliability. Stamped to the reverse with "15 ct." Dimensions: 36 x 28 mm. Total weight is 5.57 grams. It features a characteristic early 20th-century clasp—a transition between the old C-clasp and more modern, secure options, though not quite there yet :) Condition: Excellent, the clasp is in good working order, the pearls, which are particularly susceptible to aging and colour...
