Description

An exceptional, fine and impressive, rare antique George III English sterling silver cow creamer made by John Schuppe; an addition to our Georgian silverware collection. This exceptional antique Georgian silver creamer, in sterling standard, has been realistically modelled in the form of a cow. The body of this antique silver creamer is embellished with details reproducing the fine definition of the cow's facial and anatomical features. The surface of the cow is further ornamented with engraved decoration replicating the hair on the cow's hide; typically examples are plain and unembellished, the engraved decoration is a fine and rare feature. The jug is fitted with a hinged cover ornamented with floral decoration to the shaped rim and surmounted with an impressive applied finial realistically modelled in the form of a fly. This impressive Georgian silver cow creamer is fitted with a loop handle, modelled in the form of the cow's tail. This exceptional sterling silver cow creamer was crafted by the renowned silversmith John Schuppe; a silver cow creamer by this Dutch silversmith, active in London from 1753 to 1773, is a rare and whimsical example of 18th-century Engl...
