Description

An exceptional, fine and impressive antique George I English Britannia silver lady's mug by John East; an addition to our Georgian silverware collection. This exceptional antique George I Britannia silver* mug has a plain tapering cylindrical form. The surface of this antique silver mug is plain and unembellished. The upper portion of the mug is encircled with bands of tooled decoration, below the plain applied moulded border to the rim. This lady's silver mug is fitted with an impressive tooled decorated S scroll handle. The underside of the mug is ornamented with the contemporary pin struck initials 'RC'. This antique mug has a fine colour and patination. This impressive antique silver mug was crafted by the renowned early Georgian London silversmith John East. Such small Georgian mugs, in this high quality and condition, are becoming increasingly difficult to locate; period mugs of this size would have been crafted for a lady. A silver lady's mug is a timeless and meaningful gift, ideal for a 25th (silver) anniversary, retirement, personal milestone or as a refined addition to an antique collection. * Britannia standard silver was introduced by the British ...
