Description

A late 19th C. Brass Chandelier that would have originally been gas lit. It has 6 arms that will now take candles but the centre fitting has been converted to electric and will take one bulb. It is quite intricate in style and is of good quality. It is in good used condition, with some dints etc and there is one section of a bottom finial that is missing, but this does not detract from how it looks when it is hanging. This item will require re-wiring. Height 125 cm Diameter 39 cm
