Description

A magnificent antique French gilt wood fauteuil armchair in Louis XVI style, upholstered in silk damask and dating from circa 1890. The original gilt wood frame is beautifully aged with just the right amount of wear. It is decorated with carved and moulded foliate motifs, having an arched crest-rail with upholstered back, sided by padded armrests terminating to carved grips over a generously proportioned seat, raised on fluted legs terminating in brass casters. A very good quality and comfortable armchair of good proportions, not too big, ideal as a bedroom or feature chair. Construction/Wood: Giltwood Condition Report: Solid and sturdy. Good colour and original patina. Various marks and wear commensurate with age. A few small marks to the otherwise clean fabric. Sprung seat with horsehair which has had additional webbing added underneath. Dimensions: Width: 68cm Depth: 63cm Max Height: 82cm Height to seat: 40cm Height to Arms: 50cm
