Description

An exceptional and imposing antique French vitrine cabinet, By Parisian maker Maison Mottheau, celebrated for its masterful craftsmanship during the 19th and early 20th centuries. Crafted in luxurious kingwood and embellished with finely cast gilt bronze mounts, this piece exemplifies the opulence and elegance of the Louis XV revival style. The tall, slender body features a shaped glazed door and curved glass side panels, revealing a velvet-lined interior with multiple shelves—perfect for the display of objets d'art, fine porcelain, or glassware. Decorative ormolu mounts, including foliate scrollwork and corner appliqués, enrich the cabinet's silhouette, while elegant cabriole legs provide graceful support. This is a museum-quality showcase piece from one of the most respected names in French decorative arts, ideal for those seeking an authentic statement cabinet of distinction.
