Description

A 1969 Omega Geneve manual wind wristwatch. An unusual blue dial, with a lightly brushed textured finish. Applied steel baton hour markers, larger at the quarters. Each baton has a chamfer towards the back edge. An outer minute track in a contrasting white finish, with 1/5 seconds tracking. A framed date aperture to 3 o'clock. An applied steel Omega logo, above the white model designation scripting. A slim stainless steel case with sloping lugs, chamfered to the edges. A three piece case body with a press down case back and bezel. Original Omega winding crown. The watch comes complete with its original Omega 'fix-o-flex' bracelet - patent 896575 and signed to the component parts. Powering the watch is the Omega Caliber 613, a 17-jewel manual wind movement. Case reference 132.019SP.
