Description

A stunning gilt bronze Buddha from Ayutthaya Thailand. The piece is modelled in the Sankhaburi style in the abhaya mudra stance palms in front. The piece has a fastening ring to the base point to a temple deity. The piece has verdigris particularly to the lower robes and areas of limescale pointing again to the piece having been housed near running water. Face with closed eyes and serene smile, tight curls to the hair, ushisha surmounted by a flame. Wear to gilding, verdigris and minor limescale otherwise in good condition. Supported on a modern metal frame to a wooden base.
