Description

A Single Original Antique Victorian Carved Hall Chair . A spectacular addition to any period hallway. We bring to you this truly exceptional Victorian solid Oak hall chair made in the gothic style around C1850. This very rare and unique chair features a shaped, curved and beautifully carved back featuring an exquisitely carved centre motif depicting a framed Celtic hound with the forelegs being fretwork carved for a very true to life 3 dimensional form. The Celtic hound is an ancient breed, a type of Greyhound-like dog common in Celtic regions. The collar on the dog suggests domestication, consistent with their historical roles as hunting and companion animals. The back is further embellished with scroll and shell carvings complete with 3 finishing finials to the top. The chairs seat is solid Oak with an ornately carved edge with the top being veneered in a more appealing figured 'Brown Oak' wild grain, it does, however have some historical splitting/timber movement in the seat which has been repaired at some stage in its long life. The 3 side rails under the seat are 3 individual florally carved framed scenes going to its 2 very ornate opposing spiral turned forelegs...
