Description

A beautiful 19th century dairy bowl, turned from a single piece of sycamore. The bowl has faint decorative lines carved into the outside, and a fantastic patina derived from years of use. The inside is covered in numerous faint marks from utensils which have accumulated to give it a wonderful time-worn look. Condition: There is a hairline crack in the bowl which appears stable (this is reflected in the price). General marks and surface wear throughout in accordance with age and use, which are all part of its unique charm. Free UK delivery - the item will be sent using a tracked and signed for service. If you would like a quote for delivery elsewhere please get in touch.
