

SA1145052

Antique Map of London published by Willam Darton

Price

GBP 450

| USD $614 | EUR 525

Item Reference: SA1145052

Date of manufacture: 1800

Description

The Stranger's Guide Through the Streets of London By Sam Ward | Published by William Darton, London | 1817 Step back into the bustling heart of early 19th-century London with this remarkable guide and map, "The Stranger's Guide Through the Streets of London." Compiled by Sam Ward and published by the renowned map sellers William Darton in 1817, this guide offers a detailed and fascinating snapshot of the city during a time of rapid urban transformation. This edition features a newly updated plan of London, Westminster, and Southwark, meticulously charted to include the latest improvements of the time. Highlights include the newly developed Regent's Park, the elegant expanse of Kensington Gardens, bustling new markets, and expanded docklands—all clearly marked and thoughtfully laid out for the traveler and city explorer. Designed not only as a practical navigation aid for visitors but also as a historical document, the map offers insights into London's evolving infrastructure, architecture, and public spaces. The careful detailing of streets, public buildings, and transportation routes makes this both a collector's gem and a vivid educational tool. Whether you're a ma...

Internal Ref: 010010

Seller Details

Simon Charles Antiques

79 Roman Road Cheltenham Gloucestershire GL51 8AB United Kingdom

Tel: 07850 472102

International Tel: +44 7850 472102

