Description

A rustic antique pine table which has been reduced in height at some point to make a fantastic coffee table. It dates from the late 19th / early 20th century and has a planked top with breadboard ends. It stands on square legs and has a drawer at the front with its original turned knobs. The table has a lot of character and a lovely patina. The legs have retained their original stained finish. There are various old surface marks on the top and signs of age and use but nothing detrimental and it is a very solid and sturdy piece. The bottom of the drawer has been replaced at some point in its life and there are some minor signs of historic worm which has all been treated as a precaution and hasn't affected the table structurally or aesthetically. It has been cleaned and gently polished to retain its patina and is ready for use. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask. Nationwide delivery available through our network of reliable couriers.
