Description

A fine quality French Gorge cased striking & repeating carriage clock. An enamel dial with Roman numerals and 'moon' blued steel hands. Concave and convex case mouldings to the one-piece case. An 8-day duration mechanism striking the hours and 1/2 hours on a bell. The original lever escapement visible through the oblong top glass. A repeater button to the top. Circa 1860. The Gorge cases were expensive to produce due to the time and skill involved. The case edgings make them a particularly handsome design.
