Description

A truly beautiful and elegant antique ring crafted in rich 18ct yellow gold, fully hallmarked at the esteemed Chester Assay Office in 1915. This classic Edwardian five-stone navette ring is set with a sparkling old-cut diamond at its centre, flanked by vibrant red rubies on either side. Completing the composition are two charming rose-cut diamonds, one at each end, all nestled within a finely crafted traditional boat-shaped setting. The stones sit above a pierced gallery, and the ring features finely decorated shoulders that add a touch of refinement.
